WIRED TO WORK: YOUR BRAIN, YOUR PATH

Ready for Your New Start

Module 5: You Got the Job. Now What? | Participant Checklist

You don't have to do this all at once. Work through one part at a time in the days before you start. Skip anything that doesn't fit your job. Leave room for the things that bring you joy and help you feel grounded too.

Check off each part as you finish: ☐ 1 ☐ 2 ☐ 3 ☐ 4 ☐ 5

Part 1: Paperwork and Supplies

- ☐ Reread every message from the company. Look for anything they asked you to do, bring or buy.
- ☐ Purchase any needed supplies or gear.
- ☐ Finish any last minute paperwork. Send what they asked for. Print anything HR needs on paper.
- ☐ Write your to do list. Plan to finish it a couple of days before your start date.
- ☐ Gather what you need to bring. Put it all in one spot so it's ready to pack.

Part 2: Clothes

- ☐ Find out what people wear there. Think back to your interview or building tour. Look for real employee photos on the company's social media and LinkedIn.
- ☐ Still not sure? Ask. Email HR or the person who sent your offer letter: "I want to make sure I come dressed appropriately. Is there a dress code I should know about?"
- ☐ No answer yet? Aim down the middle for day one. Nice pants with a button down or nice top, or a dress if you prefer.
- ☐ Pick your outfits early. Choose them before the night before, or plan the whole week over the weekend.
- ☐ Try on every outfit, shoes included. Make sure everything fits.
- ☐ Check for sensory distractors. Notice anything that will bother you after a few hours and swap it out.
- ☐ Wearing a uniform? Try it on ahead of time. Check the fit and how it feels.
- ☐ Count your clean uniform shirts. Make sure you have enough for your first few shifts.
- ☐ Got a name tag? Pick one place to keep it.

Part 3: Your Commute

- [ ] Do a dry run. Same route, same time, same way of getting there. Do it on a weekday.
- [ ] Notice what the trip is like. Check traffic if you drive. Check how crowded it gets if you take public transit.
- [ ] Add 15 to 20 minutes to your estimate. Write down the time you need to leave.
- [ ] Decide what you'll do if you're early. Sit in your car, walk around the block or get a coffee.
- [ ] Know which entrance to use and where to check in. Ask ahead of time if nobody told you.
- [ ] Choose what helps you feel grounded on the way. Is there a sensory object that still lets you stay aware of your surroundings but helps you feel grounded? In the car, try a familiar podcast, your favorite music or a consistent route.
- [ ] Decide if you want a few quiet minutes before you walk in. Arriving early gives you time for breathwork or sitting quietly.
- [ ] Make a backup plan. Know what you'll do if you get caught in traffic or your ride runs late.
- [ ] Save the name and number of who to call if you're running late.

Part 4: Onboarding and Your First Day

Pack your bag the night before

- [ ] Tax forms or ID if needed. If it has been mentioned to you, bring one document from List A, like a passport. Or bring one from List B and one from List C, like a driver's license plus your Social Security card or birth certificate. Your company's instructions will tell you what they expect.
- [ ] Bank account information for direct deposit. You need your routing number and account number. Double check both.
- [ ] Printed paperwork for HR.
- [ ] A notebook and pen for taking notes.
- [ ] Your work computer, if the company mailed it to you.
- [ ] Your supplies, uniform pieces and name tag.

Get ready to meet people

- [ ] Confirm where to go, what time to arrive and what to expect. Check the details the company sent you.
- [ ] Write down your questions. Onboarding is a great time to ask them. Nobody expects you to know much yet.
- [ ] Practice your introduction out loud. Say your name and the team you're joining or what you'll be doing.
- [ ] Have an answer ready for small talk. People may ask where you're from or where you went to school.
- [ ] Want more practice? Ask a friend, family member or an AI tool to run through it with you.

- [ ] Pick a way to remember names. Repeat the name back: “It’s nice to meet you, Jane.” Or jot a quick note after you meet someone.
- [ ] Keep a line ready for when you forget a name. “Would you please remind me of your name?”
- [ ] Choose the regulation tools you’ll use on day one.

Part 5: Am I Ready?

Read each line and check Yes or Not yet. A Not yet tells you where to put your energy next. It doesn’t mean you’re behind.

Ask yourself	Yes	Not yet
I know what I’m wearing on day one and it feels comfortable.	☐	☐
I have the supplies, gear or uniform I need.	☐	☐
My paperwork is finished or packed.	☐	☐
I’ve practiced my commute and I know what time to leave.	☐	☐
I know which entrance to use and where to check in.	☐	☐
I know who to call if I’m running late.	☐	☐
My ID documents and bank information are in my bag.	☐	☐
I can introduce myself in a sentence or two.	☐	☐
My questions are written down.	☐	☐
I know which regulation tools I’ll use.	☐	☐

Mostly Yes? You’re ready. Go do something that brings you joy before your first day.
